

Master Course Syllabus Outline

Department: Engineering Technology

Course Prefix/Number: ASCI 3073

Official Course Title: Aviation History I

Master Syllabus Approved by Department on: 04 / 21 / 05
Month date year

- I. Catalog Description: A study of people and events that have influenced modern aviation internationally from 1783-1939. Historical evidence such as artifacts and recorded documents will be examined to document the role aviation has played in world events.
- II. Prerequisites: Junior classification.
- III. Expanded Course Description: Aviation History gives students a unique perspective on international aviation history. This course explores the birth of aviation in 1783 Annonay France, to the exhilarating worldwide aviation accomplishments of the late 1930s. This course explores a journey of adventure, exploration and adventure. Students will discover how aviators have escaped the bonds of earth by achieving the freedom and power of flight. Aviation History will provide the framework for developing a greater understanding and appreciation of how aviators constructed the future as they built upon the knowledge of earlier pioneers.
- IV. Intended Student Learning Outcomes: Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to demonstrate through class participation and examinations how aviation was developed, and the far-reaching implications that it has made on present day human civilization.
- V. Unless otherwise stipulated in this master syllabus by the department, the following items are subject to faculty discretion as described in each faculty member's individual course outline/syllabus:
 - a) Course Requirements
 - b) Required Text(s)
 - c) Bibliography
- VI. Academic Honesty: Cheating, plagiarism (submitting another person's materials or ideas as one's own), or doing work for another person who will receive academic credit are all-impermissible. This includes the use of unauthorized books, notebooks, or other sources in order to secure or give help during an examination, the unauthorized copying of examinations, assignments, reports, or term papers, or the presentation of unacknowledged material as if it were the student's own work. Disciplinary action may be taken beyond the academic discipline administered by the faculty member who teaches the course in which the cheating took place.

VII. Students With Disabilities Policy: It is the policy of Tarleton State University to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and other federal, state, and local laws relative to the provision of disability services. Students with disabilities attending Tarleton State University may contact the Office of Disability Services at (254) 968-9478 to request appropriate accommodation. Furthermore, formal accommodation requests cannot be made until the student has been officially admitted to Tarleton State University.

Department Head Signature/Date:

Signature

_____/_____/_____
Date