

Langdon Review Weekend September 6 – 8, 2012

Dora Lee Langdon Cultural & Educational Center Granbury, Texas

Tarleton State University Stephenville, Texas

Co-Editors: Moumin Quazi and Marilyn Robitaille

Editorial Advisory Board

Phyllis Allen Judy Alter Betsy Berry Alice Cushman Robert L. Flynn Todd Frazier Don Graham Dominique Inge Charles Inge James Hoggard Lynn Hoggard James Ward Lee Natrelle Long Jill Patterson Punch Shaw Thea Temple Cheryl Vogel Donna Walker-Nixon Betty Wiesepape

۲

2012 Contributors

Kent L. Boyer Joe R. Christopher John Patrick Cobb Jefferson Todd Frazier Ginger Henry Geyer Christine Granados Virginia "Vicki" Grise Stephen Harrigan Peter Hoheisel Donna M. Johnson Jackie MacLelland Michael O'Keefe Jan Seale Natalie Stiles Kirk Wilson

General Information

REGISTRATION: The registration desk in the Langdon House will open beginning Thursday morning at 8:30 a.m. and continuing throughout the Langdon Review Weekend.

VENUE: All events with the exceptions of the film screening and the Picnic with the Poet Laureate take place at the Langdon Center. The Rock House and the Concert Hall are both within shouting distance of the Gordon House where registration is taking place.

EXHIBITS: Writers have been invited to display their books at a table in the Gordon House. Feel free to browse and ultimately purchase books.

BREAK AREA: From 10:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m., help yourself to the snacks provided. Look for the tents on the Langdon Center Lawn.

RESTROOMS: Restrooms are located in the building behind the Concert Hall.

SOCIAL, CULTURAL, AND INTELLECTUAL PROGRAM:

All the events from Thursday morning's readings onward-the publication reception, readings, guest speakers' programs, Picnic with the Poet Laureate, and the Saturday Morning Brunch-are all included in the registration fee, as is a copy of this year's journal. Movie tickets and the Friday evening meal may be purchased on location. Sign up and pay for extra picnic and brunch tickets (if additional ones are available) either online or at the registration desk.

THE BOOK: We're celebrating (and shamelessly promoting) the ninth edition of Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas, available for purchase at the Gordon House.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Please respect the room capacity numbers posted at each venue.

If you need anything, please don't hesitate to ask Co-editors Moumin Quazi and Marilyn Robitaille, or Langdon Center Program Specialist Joel Back.

Langdon Review Weekend Schedule September 6 - 8, 2012

DAY ONE, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 2011 MORNING SESSIONS

Registration: 8:30 a.m. – Gordon House, Langdon Center, Granbury, Texas

Thursday, September 6 Session I: 9:00 a.m. – 10:00 a.m.

1. PLENARY SESSION 1: The Robert E. Howard You Don't Know About Concert Hall

Alan Birkelbach was the 2005 Poet Laureate of Texas. His work has appeared in journals and anthologies such as Grasslands Review, Borderlands, and Concho River Review. He has been a featured reader at the Texas Book Festival twice and was recently named as the editor for the Texas Poet Laureate Series published by TCU Press. His latest book, No End of Vision, a collaboration with the 2010 Texas Poet Laureate Karla K. Morton, debuted at Langdon Review Weekend in 2011. About his presentation, Alan writes, "His literary estate is worth millions of dollars, his prose works have generated at least five movies, his contemporaries included Karle Wilson Baker and J. Frank Dobie, and every year there is a festival held in his honor. Give up? It's Robert E. Howard, most famously known as the creator of Conan the Barbarian. But he was also a prolific poet. The themes and topics of his poetry range all the way from Ancient Rome to the West to comedy. And hardly anyone outside the circle of Howard fans has heard his poetic work. Until today."

Session II: 10:15 a.m. – 11:15 a.m.

2. PLENARY 2: WITH A RAZOR POINT

Concert Hall

Three polite, witty people from Texas / Find that life occasionally vexes, / And 'though their work doesn't rhyme -- / At least most of the time - / Sometimes, they believe they cause hexes.

Imagination can create reality. So we're usually careful about what we write. But some injustices result in "bitter bitch" reflections, even from men usually more reserved. This session will have a razor point. But please—don't be surprised if you find yourself laughing.

- Cassy Burleson spent 60 years talking only to her keyboard late at night, raw emotions salved in secret. Meanwhile, she kept her jobs, her dearest friends, got divorced more than once, and learned that laughter is the best revenge. Her poetry pokes fun of unfilled promises, dreams that limp along, and all things inauthentic and was published first in Whetstone and the Green Fuse literary magazines. She went underground until publishing in the 2009-2010 Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas. A Baylor faculty member, her longitudinal study of the dragging death of James Byrd, Jr., appeared in the 2011 American Studies Journal and is still being sponsored by Baylor's Institute for Oral History. She also is thrilled to be on the team for Not Our First Rodeo: An Anthology of Texas Women Artists set for publication by Wings Press this year.
- June Zaner writes, "A lifetime ago, I drew with pen and ink, broke stone and carved it into shape, and forced hot steel and iron into figures in space. All the while, I observed, as most folks do who assume the label "artist," that the irony and pain (and sometimes joy) of those around me might be better-captured in words. With retirement, I put the chisels and other tools of my former trade away and returned to writing. I produce an on-line journal, Chop Suey, and was pleased to have both my poetry and family photos in the 2009-2010 Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas." Her publications also include essays in Texas Hill Country Explore, political comment in The Tennessean newspaper, and poetry in New Texas and Baylor's House of Poetry. Future work will appear in Not Our First Rodeo: An Anthology of Texas Women Artists (Wings Press).
- Dick Zaner. After a career as a teacher and publishing philosopher, this retired Emeritus Professor of Clinical and Medical Ethics (Vanderbilt University Medical Center) wrote two books of narratives, just submitted a third book based on clinical work in hospitals and clinics, and has been actively writing a lengthy memoir (Possibly Invented Stories From An Imaginary Mind: A Memoir). Several of his childhood narratives were presented previously at Langdon Review Weekend, and a clinical ethics narrative appeared in the 2009-2010 Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas. Writing his memoir brought him back to writing poetry in a new style, and haunted by several questions for a long time, his new poems find their focus there like never before.

Thursday, September 6

Lunch on your own 11:20 a.m. - 12:45 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSIONS Thursday, September 6 Session III: 1:00 p.m. - 2:15 p.m.

2 concurrent sessions

1. Mixed Genre

Concert Hall

- Ron Moore. "Poetry Selections." For 30 years Moore was a health care executive. He has a B.A. in Philosophy and an M.B.A. in Finance from TCU. He is an inveterate adventurer (103 countries) a composer, a CD of art songs, Last Light, and owns Baskerville Publishers. He has one book of poetry, Alterity (Current Press) and has been published in descant and other venues. He is a human rights advocate with an emphasis on Tibetan freedom. His two sons live in Hollywood, California and Bir, India. He resides in Fort Worth, Texas and Kotor, Montenegro.
- Steve Sherwood, Director of the William L. Adams Center for Writing at TCU. "Rumors of His Death." Steve's fiction and creative nonfiction have appeared in descant, Red Rock Review, Amarillo Bay, Northern Lights, Outside, Riversedge, New Texas, The Chiron Review, and other journals. Reflecting his interest in the people and landscapes of the modern American West, his first novel Hardwater revolves around the efforts of a newspaper editor in a small Wyoming uranium-mining town to track down a murderer who has threatened the life of his son. The book won the 2003 George Garrett Fiction Prize and was published by the Texas Review Press in January 2005.
- Cheryl Clements, Professor of English, Blinn College/Brazos Campus. Cheryl writes short fiction and creative nonfiction and has published in Southwestern American Literature, Journal of the American Studies Association of Texas, CCTE Studies, and The Houston Chronicle's "Sunday Magazine," among others. In 2011 and 2012 she received the Conference of College Teachers of English award for prose. Her piece for this year's Langdon Review Weekend, "En Guarde," will appear in Not Our First Rodeo: An Anthology of Texas Women Artists (Wings Press).
- James H. Harris, Jr. M.D. "A Failure of the Heart." Jim is an eclectic writer from Marshall, Texas. Through the years, he has been a cowboy, laborer, heavy equipment operator, student, physician, soldier, rancher, big game hunter, husband, and father. He generally writes short stories and dirges. He has also written a couple of absolutely dreadful screen plays. This Langdon Review Weekend will be his first real literary exposure to quality folks, he says.

2. Mixed Genre

Rock House

- Sherry Craven has taught college English and creative writing and high school Spanish. She has retired and lives in Jasper in Deep East Texas. She has published poetry, short fiction, and creative nonfiction and read poetry for NPR. Her poetry has appeared in English and Spanish in journals such as AmarilloBay, Muse2, New Texas, Two Southwests, The Witness, Windhover, descant, Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas, RiverSedge, The Texas Review, Concho River Review, El Locofoco, and she is included in the anthology Quotable Texas Women. Her poetry appears in the anthology of Texas writers Texas Poetry 2, and her nonfiction in Writing on the Wind, a collection of essays by West Texas women writers. She won the Conference of College Teachers of English 2005 poetry award. She is an editor for the literary press Ink Brush Press. Her book of poetry, Standing by the Window, was published by VAC Poetry in 2010.
- Joe R. Christopher, professor emeritus, Tarleton State University. "A Celebration of Charles Darwin (Poems)." Joe has published half a dozen books through the years. In this year's Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas, most of his poems about Charles Darwin are collected. He is giving a reading of some of those poems, including at least one that is not collected there.
- Terry Dalrymple, Department of English and Modern Languages, Angelo State University. "What I Want You to Know." Terry teaches English at Angelo State University and has been publishing fiction and nonfiction for thirty years. He recently edited Texas Soundtrack: Texas Stories Inspired by Texas Songs, published by Ink Brush Press, which also published a revised reprint of his novel for middle readers, Fishing for Trouble. Other publications include Salvation and Other Stories (Panther Creek Press) and numerous short stories and essays in a variety of journals and magazines. He founded the literary journal Concho River Review and served as fiction editor for many years. He is a member of the Texas Institute of Letters.
- Dave Kuhne, TCU (retired). "Ending Comments Concerning 'Ain't Gonna Bump No More Big Fat Woman." This short story was written as a response to the well-known Michael Parker story, "Hidden Meanings, Treatment of Time, Supreme Irony, and Life Experiences in the Song 'Ain't Gonna Bump No More Big Fat Woman." The two stories will be paired in the forthcoming anthology A Shared Voice. Edited by Tom Mack and Andrew Geyer and published by Lamar University Press, the anthology will feature twenty-four writers from Texas and the Carolinas. Kuhne is the author of African Settings in Contemporary American Novels (Greenwood Press, 1999) and The Road to Roma (Ink Brush Press, 2011). He was editor of descant, TCU's literary journal, for more than a decade, and he was the principal editor of descant: Fifty Years (TCU Press, 2008), an anthology celebrating the journal's first half century of publication.

Thursday, September 6 Session IV: 2:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m.

2 Concurrent Sessions

- 1. Art, Community, Poems, and Stories Concert Hall
 - Karla K. Morton. "Passion, Art, Community: Denton, Texas, in Word and Image." Denton has always supported the Arts, but has outdone itself in asking Karla to write the history of the city in poetry form, then holding a call for artists to pair up each poem with artwork. The result is this book, an amazing display of Public Art. Karla, the 2010 Texas Poet Laureate, is a member of the Texas Institute of Letters, and a graduate of Texas A&M University. A Betsy Colquitt Award Winner and twice an Indie National Book Award Winner, she is the author of seven books of poetry.
 - Donna M. Johnson. "Reading from Holy Ghost Girl and 'Gunsmoke." Donna is the author of Holy Ghost Girl, a memoir the New York Times called "enthralling." The book was an O Magazine 2011 Fall pick and has been well reviewed by Texas Monthly, People, and other national publications. Holy Ghost Girl received a 2011 Books for Better Life award and the Mayborn Creative Nonfiction Prize for manuscript in progress. Donna's work has appeared in the Psychology Today blog, Huffington Post, Dallas Morning News, and the Austin American-Statesman. She leads creative writing workshops as part of the Free Minds program and lives in Austin with her husband, the poet and author Kirk Wilson.
 - Kirk Wilson. "Fiction, Non-fiction, Poems." Kirk will read selections from recently published poems, fiction ("The Goat's Eye," a short story about family, ghosts, and goats set on a west Texas ranch), and non-fiction ("A Brief and Necessary Madness," a narrative non-fiction piece about a murderous sheriff in south Texas in the early 1950's). Kirk's work has recently been published in Confrontation, Eclipse, Meridian, The New Guard Literary Review, The Wordstock 10 anthology, and other journals. His true crime book Unsolved has been published in six editions in the US and UK. He lives in Austin with his wife Donna Johnson, author of Holy Ghost Girl. His web site is www.KirkWilsonBooks.com

2. Poetry

Rock House

- Charles Inge, Journeyman Poet, muses about "Peaches, Pears and Plums," and other aspects of our protean world. A Granbury resident living, writing, and working at the Brazos House, on a bluff overlooking the lake, Charles brings a lifelong love of poetry to bear in his poems.
- Michael Baldwin will present a reading from his 2011 Eakin Press Award Book, Scapes, along with a Power Point projection of images relating to the poems. He is a member of the Fort Worth Poetry Society and native of Fort Worth. He is a long-time public library administrator and former teacher of American Government. He has been extensively published in poetry journals, has self-published 6 chap books, his Slam Poetry Manual was published by the American Library Association.
- Matt Byars, Assistant Professor of English, Lubbock Christian University. "Poems." Matt earned his Ph.D. in Creative Writing from Georgia State University. He lives in Lubbock with his wife, Heather, and his two children, Liam and Audrey.

NOTES:

Thursday, September 6 RECEPTION 4:30 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

Gallery 206

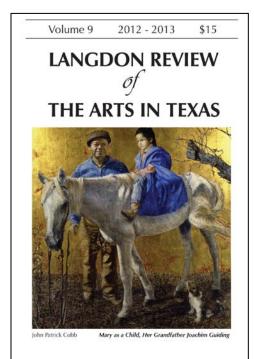

Publication Reception sponsored by Office of the President, Tarleton State University

Gallery 206, 206 East Pearl Street, Granbury, TX 76048 — http://mapq.st/qhvi1R Supported by the Cynthia Brants Trust

The Cynthia Brants Trust is charged with disseminating, through sales, the works of art from the estate of Cynthia Brants. Proceeds from those sales are distributed to non-profit organizations as designated by Cynthia Brants. The Trust is able to accomplish that goal by promoting the legacy of Cynthia Brants through exhibitions, presentations, and sales events.

2012-2013 Contributors

Kent L. Boyer Joe R. Christopher John Patrick Cobb Jefferson Todd Frazier Ginger Henry Geyer Christine Granados Virginia "Vicki" Grise Stephen Harrigan Peter Hoheisel Donna Johnson Jackie MacLelland Michael O'Keefe Jan Seale Natalie Stiles Kirk Wilson

With special thanks to Cheryl Westgard Vogel for facilitating art contributions. Valley House Gallery and Sculpture Garden, Dallas, Texas. www.valleyhouse.com

Dinner on your own

6:00 p.m. – 7:15 p.m.

EVENING SESSION Movie Screening: A Series of Documentaries Thursday, September 6 7:30 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.

Showbiz Cinema Tickets $7.50 at the door (no pre-sales)

Natalie Stiles, Documentarian with Q&A afterward

Natalie Stiles is a documentary filmmaker. She has been working with Quin Mathews Films in Dallas, Texas, since 2006. She fell in love with the art of documentary at the University of Texas at Austin, where she earned her Radio/Television/Film degree. She has produced, filmed, and edited films for several nonprofit organizations as well as statewide political commercials and nonpartisan documentaries on politics. She has also produced projects in Europe, Africa, and across the United States. She was born and raised in Dallas, where she still lives today with her husband and two dogs.

ShowBiz Cinema 6. Location for Thursday night's movie screening:

1201 Water's Edge Drive, Granbury, TX 76048. (Located behind WalMart, one block off Highway 377 and across from Chili's Restaurant)

DAY TWO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7 MORNING SESSIONS

Registration: 8:30 a.m. – Gordon House

SESSION I: 9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.

2 Concurrent Morning Sessions

1. The Editors: Not Our First Rodeo: An Anthology of Texas Women Artists Rock House

Entitled Not Our First Rodeo: An Anthology of Texas Women Artists, this anthology of writing, photography, and song by Texas women marks the end of the first decade of the 21st century with a book of writing by Texas women. Though neither only about Texas nor only about Texas women, this anthology supports the belief that Texas women writers are influenced by their experience with the culture, history, and geography of Texas. We are, in short, women who have lived Texas, lived it as one might a well-worn pair of beloved boots. With ten years having passed since the publication of Red Boots and Attitude, it is high time to see how these writers are faring—what old friends have accomplished and what new friends may now add to the voice of the Texas woman writer. While this work is a tribute to Red Boots and Attitude, to the 35 original contributors, and the editors Diane Fanning and Suzie Kelly Flatau, even more the anthology is a tribute to our mother writers, those women who came decades before us, trail blazers who have woven stories, poems, and songs about this mother land.

- Cassy Burleson worked her way through college as a newspaper reporter/photographer. Her master's thesis on poetry allowed her to interview Anne Sexton, Robert Bly, Judson Crews, Richard Bach, and Vassar Miller, and she's grateful to Joseph Colin Murphey, Leon Hale, Marie Lively and Donna Walker-Nixon for helping her find her nitch. She's been published in Whetstone, the Green Fuse and Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas. Her day job is as a Baylor University Journalism, PR & New Media senior lecturer. Her research with Dr. Mia Moody-Rameriz on the dragging death of James Byrd, Jr., appeared in the 2011 American Studies Journal and continues to be supported by Baylor's Institute for Oral History.
- Rachel Crawford is a teacher, editor, and writer from Central Texas. Her poetry has appeared in Red Rock Review, Lucid Rhythms, Mudlark, and Lyric, and she is the recipient of two Beall Poetry Festival Poetry in the Arts awards. She is currently a Ph.D. candidate at Baylor University with a specialization in contemporary American poetry.
- Ashley Palmer is the Interim-Assistant Director of the Academy for Teaching and Learning at Baylor University, where she is also a doctoral candidate in sociology. She is a 2012 recipient of the K. Patricia Cross Future Leaders Award conferred by the AAC&U for leadership promise in higher education. In both her writing and research, Ashley explores the complexity of intimate relationships—how they form, progress, and dissolve, and what they mean for those involved. After completing her Ph.D. in sociology, she hopes to enter an M.F.A. program to pursue her passion for writing.

• Donna Walker-Nixon, a 2002 Piper Professor, is a Baylor University English Department Lecturer. She founded the journal Windhover and inaugurated the Writer's Festival at the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor. Along with Marilyn Robitaille, she co-founded Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas. She published her first novel, Canaan's Oothoon, in 2010. Her work has appeared in Red Boots and Attitude, descant, and Writing on the Wind.

2. Mixed Genre

Concert Hall

- Jerry Craven will be talking about "True Short Stories and Fictional Short Stories." He is press director for Lamar University Press and Ink Brush Press, and for 13 years he has served as editor-in-chief of AmarilloBay.Org. The author of 24 published books, he will be reading from his two books published in 2012. One is Tiger, Tiger, a collection of short stories; the other is Saving a Songbird, a memoir.
- Peter Hoheisel. "Poetry." Peter is featured in this year's Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas.
- Charlotte Renk. "Ubiquitous Voices." Charlotte will share poems and very short prose passages (prose poems, perhaps) that urge compassionate responses and responsible action for the multitudes who suffer in our world, whether victims of war or genocide, personal loss, abuse, and/or loneliness.in this complex and often difficult world. Charlotte writes, "My poems and short stories are products of long walks in the woods behind my cabin and reflections accumulated over many years. After my Ph.D. from L.S.U. and twenty-five years of teaching English and humanities at Trinity Valley Community College in Athens, Texas, I write about family, nature, hiking, and those who suffer from war, abuse, sorrow, etc. to convey compassionate and responsible responses for people and nature. Writing helps me cope with the beautiful, difficult, and often complex Ways of life." She has published in numerous journals such as Kalliope, Mochila Review, New Texas-'95, '98, Concho River Review, Sow's Ear, Southwest Review, and Langdon Review of the Arts in Texas. Eakin Press published These Holy Hungers in 2009, and Poetry in the Arts published Solidago, An Altar to Weeds, in 2010.
- Arch Mayfield, Wayland Baptist University, Plainview, Texas. "More Cowbell: The Art of Allusion." Arch is current president of Conference of College Teachers of English. He is in his fortieth year as a university professor and teaches a wide variety of courses. Arch writes, "The subject line

'More Cowbell,' in a recent campus-wide email, energized a class discussion of allusion. This presentation focuses on the useful and edifying connection between pop culture and the device of allusion."

• Lynn Hoggard, Midwestern State University. "Stories and Poems from Louisiana." Lynn directs the Humanities Program at Midwestern State University, where she also teaches English and French. She has published five books, including A Certain Attitude, a collection of poems by Texas women. She is also past president of the American Literary Translators Association. In these poems and stories, Lynn Hoggard looks at South Louisiana, where she grew up, as she tries to see clearly the place that, as she writes, "put the marrow in my bones, put the arrow through my heart."

Friday, September 7 SESSION II: 10:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

2 Concurrent Sessions

- 1. Lamar University Press Panel Concert Hall
 - Jan Seale will be reading two short-short pieces of fiction from her new book Appearances. Jan, the 2012 Texas Poet Laureate, is the author of seven poetry volumes and several books of short fiction and essays. Her writing has been featured in such venues as National Public Radio, the Black Box Theatre in Boston, and the Dallas Museum of Art. Her latest books of poetry are Nape and The Wonder Is, 2nd edition, from Ink Brush Press, and the latest volume of fiction is Appearances, published by Lamar University Press. Jan has taught writing at three universities and has held a National Endowment for the Arts fellowship in creative writing.
 - Gretchen Johnson lives in Beaumont, Texas, and works as an English Instructor at Lamar University. Her short stories and poems have appeared in The Blue Bear Review, The Meridian Anthology of Contemporary Poetry, Poetry Harbor, Spout Press, The Sow's Ear Poetry Review, and others. She received her Bachelor of Arts in Creative Writing from Southwest Minnesota State University and her M.F.A. in Creative Writing from Texas State University. Her first book, The Joy of Deception, was published by Lamar University Press in 2012.
 - Jeffrey DeLotto will be reading a selection of pieces from his book, Voices Writ in Sand: Dramatic Monologues and Other Poems, including serial killers, wayward priests, an updated version of King Lear's Goneril, and an indigenous person from the coast with a taste for French food, among others. He teaches and has taught writing and British literature at Texas Wesleyan University, Irbid University (in Jordan), and the University of Plovdiv in Bulgaria. His poems, essays, and stories have appeared in numerous magazines, journals, and anthologies, and he has published Voices at the Door (Southwest Poets Series winner), Days of a Chameleon: Collected Poems, and the newly released Voices Writ in Sand: Dramatic Monologues and Other Poems. He is also a grower of herbs and vegetables, and skipper on the "mutinous" family sailboat.

- Michael Sanchez, Art Editor, Lamar University Press. "The Role of the Graphic Artist in Book Cover Design." Michael started out in the Bay Area in California and came to Texas about 16 years ago. His variety of experiences in print media has given him the ability to create effective, eye-catching designs. Michael is going to present about the role of a Graphic Artist is to use his or her abilities to effectively illustrate a cover design. The artist must also be willing to actively seek inspiration from authors themselves.
- Jerry Craven, Press Director for Lamar University Press, will talk about "New Paradigms in Publishing."

2. Poetry

Rock House

- James Hoggard, author of 20 books, including novels, stories, poems, and translations, will read from a series of new poems called Winds and Fires. This last year he was elected a Fellow of The Texas Institute of Letters and elected into membership in the Texas Philosophical Society. He's the Perkins-Prothro Distinguished Professor of English at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls.
- Ysabel de la Rosa. A fourth-generation Texan, Ysabel de la Rosa's poetry has appeared in numerous literary journals, including: Calyx, Nimrod, Anderbo, Oregon East, Phoebe, ManorBorn, Connecticut Review, Poem, Red River Review, Colère, Amherst Review, Wisconsin Review, Phoebe, and Arabesques, among others. Her feature writing has been published in 45+ publications in the U.S., Latin America, and Spain. She was a finalist for the 2006 Pablo Neruda Poetry Award. DreamBones, a book of poetry that Ysabel edited and designed was awarded Best Edited Book by Press Women of Texas. Her poetry chapbook, Life on Interior Plains, received an honorable mention from Kulupi Press. She has performed solo readings of her poetry at Half-Price Books in Dallas, at the Houston Poetry Festival 2011, and participated in readings with fellow poets from the Texas Poetry Calendar and the anthology The Weight of Addition. www.ysabeldelarosa.com / ysabeldelarosa.blogspot.com / artislingua.com
- Fil Peach, Poetry Society of Texas Fort Worth, New Mexico State Poetry Society Corrales Chapter, Meadowlark Poets of Rio Rancho, NM. "Shadows on the Wall." Fil is an engineer in the semiconductor industry, who works for Applied Materials, the world's largest manufacturer of equipment for the semiconductor and solar power industries. He has worked in research and manufacturing fabs in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oregon, as well as manufacturing fabs overseas, traveling in Germany, France, Italy and Spain, allowing him to use some of the 10 languages that he speaks. He currently works in Rio Rancho, New Mexico.

• Sarah Cortez, University of Houston, "The Spiritual Memoir: Crucible of Self." Winner of the PEN Texas Literary award in poetry, Sarah has edited six anthologies of poetry, memoir, or crime fiction. Her memoir Walking Home: Growing Up Hispanic in Houston is published by Texas Review Press.

NOTES:

Friday, September 7 12:00 p.m. – 1:45 p.m. Picnic with the Poet Laureate Brazos House Gardens (across the street from the Gordon House)

Picnic with the 2012 Texas Poet Laureate, Jan Seale

Jan Seale, a native Texan, lives in McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. She attended Baylor and holds degrees from the University of Louisville and North Texas State University. Jan's poetry has appeared in such journals as New America, The Cape Rock, Descant, Nimrod, and Kalliope, as well as in many anthologies and on NPR. Her poems are collected in seven volumes: Bonds; Sharing the House; Texas Poets in Concert: A Quartet (with 3 other poets); The Yin of It ; Valley Ark, with Ansen Seale; The Wonder Is: New and Selected Poems 1974-2012; and Nape. Forthcoming in October, 2012, is a new volume in the Texas Poet Laureate series from TCU Press. Her prose writing has appeared in such places as Texas Monthly, The Yale Review,

The Chicago Tribune, and Writer's Digest. Her collections of published short stories are Airlift and Appearances. Jan held a Creative Writing Fellowship through the National Endowment for the Arts in 1982. She is a member of the Speakers' Bureau for Humanities Texas as well as a member of the Texas Institute of Letters. Learn more about Jan at www.janseale.com.

Special thanks to hosts Dominique and Charles Inge Brazos House Gardens, Granbury, Texas

AFTERNOON SESSION Friday, September 7 SESSION III: 2:00 p.m. – 3:15 p.m.

1. PLENARY: Mixed Genre

Concert Hall

- Dorothy Alexander is a poet, publisher and storyteller from Cheyenne, Oklahoma. Dorothy is the author of four collections of poetry, and writes non-fiction essays and memoir, as well. She is the coordinator of the poetry readings at the annual Woody Guthrie Folk Festival in Okemah, Oklahoma and reads her poetry and prose throughout the Southwest. Her presentation is: "The Fractured Land: a prophecy," a longish poem narrated in the voice of an old woman who laments the destruction of the earth through greed and prophesies an inevitable result that may or may not bring solace to those who contemplate the destiny she envisions. dordev@yahoo.com
- Julie Chappell is a Professor of medieval and early modern literature at Tarleton State University, an editor, translator, academic researcher, and a poet. She has two academic books published, two more forthcoming in 2013, and a fifth in progress. She has read her poetry, short fiction, and creative non-fiction in various venues, and her poems have appeared in the anthologies, Spoken Word from Lollapalooza 94; Agave: A Celebration of Tequila in story, song, poetry, essay, and graphic art; and Elegant Rage: A Poetic Tribute to Woody Guthrie. Her poetry collection, Faultlines, will be published later this year by Village Books Press. A memoir The Jail/House Rocked, is also in progress. Her presentation is: "Winter 1957," another segment of her memoir. chappell@tarleton.edu
- Jane Holwerda is a Professor of English composition and literature at Dodge City Community College in southwestern Kansas. Her poetry and prose have appeared in a variety of publications, including Hurricane Review, MacGuffin, Out of Line, PMS, Red River Review, River King Supplement, South Loop, Sou'wester and in Guilty Pleasures. Jane earned her Master's (English) and Doctorate (American Studies) from Saint Louis University where she also edited for Boulevard. Jane will read a personal essay, "Two Step."
- Linda Grant Niemann teaches Creative Nonfiction at Kennesaw State University. A Ph.D. in English from UC Berkeley, she authored Boomer: Railroad Memoirs, Railroad Voices, and Railroad Noir: the American West at the end of the Twentieth Century, which chronicle her twentyyears as a brakeman on the Southern Pacific Railroad. Her presentation is: "Spirit of the Tomato," a story about travel to San Pablito, Mexico, to meet a shaman who cuts seed spirit figures out of bark paper. Iniemann@kennesaw.edu

SESSION IV: 3:30 p.m. – 4:30 p.m.

2. PLENARY: Presentation on Displacement and Rootedness in Texas Concert Hall

The three short stories presented in this panel feature female protagonists who have a conflicted and displaced sense of identity. The stories portray their struggle for something to belong-to. In each story Texas plays an integral role in defining and redefining these women who all reside in Texas but are still connected to a world outside its borders.

- Sobia Khan. "The Cave" follows the rapid demise of a Pakistani woman residing in Texas. The story is the expression of the angst the protagonist feels as she recognizes the disintegration of a Muslim identity in her future generations and her own crisis on her impending burial in Texas. Sobia is a Professor of English (Visiting Scholar) at Richland College as she writes her dissertation at University of Texas at Dallas. Her creative work fiction has been published at Secretlytimid.com, in RiversEdge, Sojourn, and Parallax. She has won awards and recognition for her creative work. She was the fiction essay and essay editor for Sojourn. She teaches Creative Writing, World Literature, and Composition courses.
- LaToya Watkins is currently pursuing her Ph.D. in Humanities and Aesthetic Studies at the University of Texas at Dallas. She holds an M.A. in creative writing. Her work has been showcased in literary journals, including Kweli Journal, and most recently, Lunch Ticket: Antioch University Literary Journal. In "Outsiders," by LaToya Watkins, two different women from two different places intersect each other's lives. Their cultures collide, and they begin to realize that language, education, and class may separate them, but black womanhood unites them in a predominantly white town in Texas.
- Susan White Norman is currently pursuing her Ph.D. degree in Humanities and Aesthetic studies at the University of Texas at Dallas where she is an instructor of Rhetoric. She also holds an M.A. degree from the University of Texas at Dallas in creative writing. She works with the university's creative art and literary journal, Reunion: The Dallas Review. Her most recent work is forthcoming in The Literary Review. "Nothing Borrowed: Nothing Owed" traces the journey of a woman who leaves her home in rural Ireland as a Catholic missionary and travels to Texas and takes a post in an orphanage. In Texas, her circumstances reveal her struggles with identity and her desire to find a spiritual and physical home.

Friday, September 7 Dinner (Order from the menu.) 5:15 p.m. – 7:00 p.m.

Lake House Grill

100 N. Crockett St.Granbury(on the east corner of the Square. Look for the big patio.)

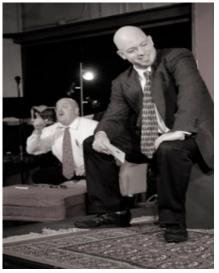

EVENING SESSION, Friday, September 7

7:30 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.

Langdon Center Concert Hall

SceneShop Readers' Theatre: A Night of Drama

Since 1996,

SceneShop has produced over 100 new works—scenes and monologues—and presented them in an intimate, minimalist style, focusing on the essential communication between the playwright, the producing ensemble and the audience. The performance will also feature two Tarleton theatre students, Josh Hensley and Robert Ferguson.

"SceneShop is an evolving collective of artists dedicated to the strength and entertainment value of new works, presented simply and performed well."

Visit www.fwsceneshop.com for more information.

DAY THREE, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8

9:30 a.m. – Noon Langdon Center Lawn

Saturday Morning Brunch

featuring

Jimmy Baldwin Musician, Advertiser, Director, and Story Teller

"Amor y Vida with the Vivador"

Jimmy, the "Cactus-Headed Troubadour," is an Americana Top 40 singersongwriter and a long-time creative director at the Richard's Group in Dallas. He has recorded three independent albums as a solo Americana artist and became a first-round Grammy nominee with the release of Vivador in 2010. Jimmy has influenced the American cultural landscape over the last 25 years with his contributions to commercial advertising. His award-winning spots for Motel 6 with Tom Bodett and his sunbaked beach spots for Corona Beer have earned him international recognition, as has his directorial debut, in which he was honored by Wim Wenders and Dennis Hopper.

NOTES: