Dear Colleagues,

Yesterday, we received the email below and attached draft RFP from the System Office. This request for information is part of the System’s continuing efforts to identify additional ways to reduce current costs and avoid future costs. Other System initiatives currently underway include outsourcing of housing and facility functions and reviews of information technology and communication operations. We are now working to supply the information requested by the System.

As we did with the System outsourcing initiative, we will keep you informed as this process unfolds. This will include the distribution of relevant materials to you and the creation of a website to archive documents.

Every university in the country is experiencing significant change because of new approaches to educating students. As we have done in the past, Tarleton will respond effectively to these changes and continue to provide an exceptional education for our students.

Sincerely,

F. Dominic Dottavio, Ph.D.
President
