

Questions of the Day

One day a gentleman farmer decided he would plant a small grove of orange trees on his property.

“Here, Caleb,” he said to his worker, “plant these nine trees in eight rows, with three trees in each row.”

It took the worker some time to figure it out, but he was successful in the end. Can you draw the arrangement?

An entire apple pie is in its tin. Without removing it, can you figure out a way to cut it into eight pieces making only three cuts?
