When you have updated a number of things in Cascade, it is best practice for you to just publish the entire website or folder where all the changes were made.
Find the folder you want to publish and click on its name.

Notes

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________
You should see a list (or table) of any folders, pages, or files located inside this folder. Above the list, select the tab button Publish.
Slide notes

Notes

---

---

---

---
Scroll down to Publish Mode and make sure that if you want this published, it is set on “Publish”. Only select “Un-publish” when you want to remove a folder from your live website, so no one can see it no matter what.
Now click Submit.

Notes
Slide notes

Notes

---

---

---

---